These officers who protested seem to have placed themselves in an embarrassing position, for it appears at the present time that Col. Ourand's action has been upheld by his superiors. It is said upon good authority that Capt. Coope's appointment, with the recommendation only awaits the ratification of President Roosevelt.

When Col. Brett, adjutant general, was seen relative to this matter, he called attention to the "Act providing for the of Congress that a permanent arrangeorganization of the militia of the District ment be made under which advances from and contains evidence, the officials say, of of Colambia." "That would seem to dispose of the matter," said Col. Brett, "The first duty of a soldier, be he officer or private, is to obey the orders of his superior. I can say for Col. Ourand that the appointment of his adjutant is a personal affair which concerns himself. Capt, Coope is an excellent officer, and is specially qualified to fill the duties of regimental ad-

DON'T WANT ESTIMATE CUT.

District Commissioners Make Request of Secretary of Treasury.

In a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury the Commissioners ask that no reluction be made in their estimates for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1907, but that he transmit them to Congress as they were prepared, with the understanding that they cover extraordinary as well as current expenditures, and that the Dis- ALIENS PROMISED HIGH WAGES trict revenues are ample for both if prop-

The Commissioners state that if no extraordinary projects of improvements Feeling, but This Has Abated to were being carried on or recommended for the next fiscal year, the amount of the estimates would be far within the prob-able appropriation fund, which, estimating the District revenues at $5,730,803, will be $11,461,606.

But in the preparation of their estimates the Commissioners recommended extraordinary projects the sum of $1.875,899. Therefore, while the total amount recommended for current expenditures of the different municipal services and payment to the sinking fund of the bonded debt is only $9,906,102, the aggregate of the estimates for extraordinary projects and the estimates for current expenditures, namely, $11,781,902.58, is larger than the appropriation fund.

The District revenues, the Commissioners say, are ample to meet the necessary current improvements and provide a reasonable annual installment payment on eccount of the extraordinary improve-
